Buyer Beware. Not all real estate schools are the same! When I began my search for a real estate school, I found the web full of information and recommendations. As Abraham Lincoln said, "The problem with the internet is it is difficult to tell what remarks are genuine." My quest for a school lead me to ask around and 100% of those I asked recommended Ron Climer. I followed that advice given and I am 100% glad that I did. Ron makes the learning process fun and relaxing while using his gift of gab to make the information retainable.
